

Howdy, Sister, Said Hackmann.

The Republican event of the campaign was pulled off at Paris last Thursday night at 7 o'clock when Arthur M. Hyde, Republican candidate for governor, Mr. Hackmann, nominee for Auditor, passed through Paris on the north-bound Katy-train. A large number of local Republicans, mainly colored, were at the station to greet them. Mr. Hyde was not much in evidence, but Hackmann came out and made it a special point to shake hands with the colored sisters. According to Democrats present he grabbed each ebony female voter by the arm and shaking her hand vigorously, exclaimed:

"Howdy, sister. Don't forget to vote. We elected only one man on the ticket four years ago and can elect all this time if you ladies will all vote."

The ladies were highly pleased of course and will vote. White women who believe in the brand of race equality Hyde and Hackmann are holding out to these poor deluded people, men and women, will either stay at home or vote the Republican ticket. Wake up, you Democratic women. Get rid of that timidity. There is much at stake. You must vote!—Paris Mercury.

Financial Loss Due To Colds.

It is estimated that the average man loses three days time each year from inability to work on account of having a cold. Much of this loss can be avoided by treating every cold as soon as the first symptoms of the disease appear. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won a wide reputation and immense sale by its cures of this disease. Try it. You are certain to be pleased with its pleasant taste and the prompt relief which it affords.

me to send them." I appeal to you again, as a mother of sons to another mother of sons to heed the broken-hearted cry of the 81,000 Gold Star mothers, who met in convention recently, and adopted a resolution asking all the women in the land, to cast their ballots for the League of Nations, the only human agency that will prevent future wars.

I appeal to you as one voter to another, irrespective of party, to vote for the Democratic party, which has made it possible for the women to take part in this election by securing the ratification of the Suffrage Amendment, and again, because it is the party which has given its women absolute equality with the men in all party affairs.

I appeal to you as one Democrat to another to go to the polls on election day and cast your ballot for the Democratic ticket, for the success of the party depends absolutely upon what the women do in the coming election.

I appeal to every woman to bend every effort towards getting every vote for the Democratic ticket that it is possible for her to do.

Remember the slogan, "Every Democrat at the polls on Election day."

Yours for Democratic success, that I be very cautious how I suggested any changes or different methods. In other words, I should cater to the pleasure of the majority. I made reply that folks according to report have been going to hell for several thousand years, and have been very satisfied with the method. Folks plowed the ground a thousand years with a crooked stick, and were pretty well satisfied. They reaped their grain with the reap-hook and the grain cradle for a thousand years and got along very well and were fairly well pleased with the method. So all along down the ages people have been thus satisfied. I replied that every time when I went into a community and found that things might be done in a better way, I meant to say so plainly, and I should take the results. I was going to speak what I felt was the truth, and let the consequences be what they would. I have kept up that doctrine ever since, and now I am pretty well along on the way of life, and I shall try to walk the same identical path, whether folks like it or not.

Missouri roads are in the mud. Rock roads without proper maintenance are worse perhaps than are dirt roads, and that is one argument of the man who is against them. I would be in the same fix, but I have faith in the men we send to the legislature that they will do the thing most desired by their constituents. If they are dishonest, as some would have us think, and if we cannot trust our governors, and other state officials, we are surely come to a pretty pass. We hear a lot about possible graft, but if there is graft in it, your member you send to the legislature will have a "finger in the pie."

I expect to support the amendment having faith that the men who will administer the matter are just as honest as are the rest of us. Our present system of special benefit districts we have seen are not a success by any means. It is a disconnected system, with no well defined co-operative ideas. They become "nobody's business" and are neglected. Men have too often had these districts in charge who are wholly incompetent. I expect to vote for the amendment if the roads are not too bad for me to get to voting place.

Finally, just keep in mind that all we are doing in this amendment is to give the legislature the power to put on a road building program, and they are to do it from year to year, and just as soon as we see them going too far, we surely have the right and the power to call a halt. "Let's lift Missouri out of the mud." Every county will get its share. This will be the first time that the cities will have been required to help build roads. It means that for each dollar that goes out of a county, one dollar comes back from the state and two comes from Federal aid. In other words a county spends or sends in one dollar and four come back, yet some folks seem to think it poor business. Are we in Missouri, by our vote going to send all federal funds to other states? If that is what you want, vote against the bond amendment. If you want to pay your entire road bills, and still be in the mud, vote against amendment number six. All the community "blights" at least, we know will so vote. Are you one?

Terence McSwiney died in a London prison Monday morning from starvation after 74 days fast. He was the Lord Mayor of Cork, Ireland and was arrested on a charge of sedition with ten others. He had in his possession, according to allegations, a copy of a pledge to stand by the Irish Republic and on this Britain based the charge of sedition. Father Dominick and the brother of the deceased were with him when he died, others being barred because of the process resorted to for feeding during the last stages of existence. McSwiney hastened his end by resisting the forcing of food into him with the little strength left him. In addition to the coal miners strike and railway strike, there is another big problem for Britain to solve.

Dear Mr. Beazell:

Your special delivery letter of the 24th just received and I hasten to reply. Have just wired you as follows: "Remain in Chillicothe tomorrow; letter follows today."

In your letter you say, "I am ready to submit the proof. I am ready to prove that the records of the 1st and 2nd session of the 69th Congress show that you were present 194 times when 106 roll calls were had and that you did not vote either way."

Very well, I will allow you one school day to answer your "proof." I will be in Chillicothe Tuesday, October 26th, 1920, to meet honorable gentlemen from your political party, to hear and consider the "proof" submitted by you. If these gentlemen sustain your charge against me I am ready to forfeit $1000 to any organized charity they may designate.

Now, please do not leave town on Tuesday, October 26, 1920, as I am anxious to afford you an opportunity to prove, if you can, what I know is not true and what I know the Congressional Record does not show.

Very respectfully,
W. W. RUCKER.

As promised in his letter Judge Rucker came to Chillicothe on the 24th and immediately sought to find Mr. Beazell. After calling his house and numerous other places, with the aid of county officials, he finally located him and notified him that he, Rucker, was present and ready to select twelve Republicans to submit the matter in controversy between them, as indicated in the foregoing correspondence. Mr. Beazell claimed to be engaged yesterday afternoon, but said that he would be ready at 8 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning. Judge Rucker appeared at the court house at 8 o'clock this morning as had previously been agreed upon by them, and found that Mr. Beazell had phoned one of the county officials that he could not appear until between 9 and 10 o'clock. Subsequently he, Beazell, called Judge Rucker over the phone and asked if he was ready to submit the list of names to whom the controversy would be submitted. Judge Rucker replied that he would select twelve reputable gentlemen, of Mr. Beazell's political party, but that he would not allow him to challenge any man selected. He told Mr. Beazell to the court house he could submit a list of names to him from which he, Rucker, would select 12 to hear the controversy. Mr. Beazell came to the county clerk's office and Judge Rucker submitted to him the following list of names:

Judge A. B. Davis, H. D. McHollard, A. B. Haggrett, George Perryman, Wm. Scruby, H. B. Hogan, Dr. Fred Moss, W. E. Crellin, Lee Clark, Dr. W. W. Edgerton, Adam Sale, H. P. Scruby, A. R. Coburn, John Hawley, A. McVey, W. H. Booth, J. P. Sallor.

Mr. Beazell said that there were men on the list submitted that he would not allow to pass on the question and demanded that Judge Rucker first select 12 names and submit them to him, Beazell. Judge Rucker replied, "I will select twelve men from the above list to whom you can submit your proofs, but I will not let you know in advance whom I have selected, because I have no knowledge as to whether or not they will serve." Mr. Beazell refused to allow 12 men to be selected from the list of 17 names presented, and thus the matter ends.

Grip.

Grip usually starts just the same as a cold with a watery discharge from the nose. You are much more likely to contract the grip when you have a cold. For that reason when grip is prevalent you should go to bed as soon as you feel that you are taking cold and stay in bed until fully recovered which should not be long if you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Three days in bed now is better than three weeks later on.
